To make Romulus more beautiful

40 students will clean up ditches

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

A 40-student task force will be hitting the streets in Romulus as part of the city's month-long clean-up campaign.

The students, all to be hired under the city-school district cooperative employment program, will be charged with cleaning up roadsides and ditches of refuse.

"We're taking applications now," Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said. "The city's personnel director is handling the hiring and indicates that response has been good."

"WE EXPECT the students, who will be hired for between $1.50 and $2 per hour, to spend two weeks cleaning up the highways after the Romulus Department of Public Works has removed the heavy debris from the roadsides and ditches."

"By then we hope to have a more beautiful Romulus," he added.

The student campaign is following an effort to see that individual property owners have cleaned up their land.

Residents have been notified that city inspectors will be visiting their property within the next three weeks to see if they have taken heed of a "first warning" issued this week.

BOY SCOUT volunteers have leafletted all property in the city, informing residents they must clean up, or face the wrath of the courts during the April clean-up campaign in the city.

"We expect nothing but cooperation," Troutt said. "The citizens of this community have been kicked around enough by bad publicity."

"This is the resident's chance to raise his head and show that it's good to live in Romulus."

The clean-up campaign was part of a 10-point platform announced by Troutt when he sought the mayor's office last summer. The campaign was moved into the early spring after some bad publicity given the city following a rash of murders in Detroit. Bodies of victims were dumped in Romulus' vacant fields.

"IT'S NO WONDER this community was chosen, when you look at some of the property," Troutt said. "If you drive through certain portions of town, you get the idea no one cares."

"I don't doubt criminals felt secure in doing their dirty deeds in this community, because by evidence offered them by some individual property owners, no one would care enough to report a crime if they didn't care enough to clean up filth."

But the new "I care about the City of Romulus" campaign may change that image.

Troutt said the city is receiving cooperation from the 34th District Court in Romulus.

"JUDGE (JAMES) Stone heard a recent case from the campaign and gave the offender a choice — five days or a $50 fine —," Troutt said. "No one will get away with leaving their property unkept anymore."

"We'll have that court packed, if no one cooperates," Troutt said. "I expect cooperation, though, because Romulus has been kept down long enough, and with a little citizen cooperation, we can build ourselves up again."

THE FIRST NOTICE — Boy Scouts Gary Brooker, 13, (left) and David Helmuth, 13, of Romulus Middle School, "serve notice" to Denise Perry, 19, of 16316 Farnum St., Romulus, that "clean-up month" is underway in the city. Residents from throughout the community were notified by scouts during the week that any eyesores on their property should be removed, or they will face court action. Looking a bit surprised at the visit is Denise's brother, Jamie, 15 months. — Roman photo.

FAA will probe misuse charges

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said his agency will investigate allegations of misuse of federal airport acquisition funds by the Wayne County Road Commission.

Gerald L. Troutt, chief of the Michigan office of the FAA promised Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt that the agency will undertake an "independent investigation" of the mayor's claim that Romulus residents were victimized by the road commission.

"After today, we'll have to look at the road commission's procedures in procuring land through a legal task force," Troutt said. "One of the major items will be spot checks of complaining residents' property to determine if the citizens are portraying the true picture of what is happening to them at the hands of the road commission."

THE FAA OFFICIAL said the investigation preliminary could be to taking federal funds away from the road commission—operators of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

However, the investigation does not imply the aviation agency will ban airport expansion, the official added. "We were shown a set of procedures by the road commission concerning land acquisition," he said. "It complied with federal regulations, and was a near duplicate of the plan used to acquire land for federal highway projects."

The meeting was called by Mayor Troutt, who is no relation to the FAA official, as another step in his quest to make the road commission more responsible to the citizens and the city government.

ALSO MEETING with the FAA official and his assistant were Mayor Pro-Tem Beverly McAnally, Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz, Councilman Jack Trumble, City Planner John Chihani and George Wilhelm, the city's urban renewal and public housing director.

When Wilhelm complained about the road commission's procedure in acquiring land, the FAA official said that the two governmental agencies—the aviation administration and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban

Mayor expects county to fix roads in city

The complaints about Detroit Metropolitan Airport may gain something for Romulus from the Wayne County Road Commission besides a stoppage of expansion.

Mayor Terry Troutt is confident the road commission will look more favorably on improving the city's road system now that he has taken the commission to court over expansion of the airport to the detriment of community.

"We held a meeting with the road commission last week, and they expressed some anger at all the publicity being given to our fight against the airport," Troutt said. "I learned long ago, however, that to get anything out of the road commission you have to cry long and loud to the newspapers."

"THE ROAD commission hates bad publicity," Troutt said. Mayor Pro-Tem Beverly McAnally, Councilman Jack Trumble, Planner John Chihani, Urban Renewal Director George Wilhelm and City Attorney William Munger met with the road commission Friday to discuss the city's complaints that the commissions operatives have deceived residents in land acquisition.

The group's specific complaint is that the commission's agents have coerced residents into signing away property at low prices, and have neglected to inform residents of their rights under a federal relocation statute which may entitle them to more than $15,000 to move from a condemned homestead to another one.

Though the road commission denied any wrong-doings, it did show some favorable response to giving Romulus a little more attention in the future, the mayor said.

"I'VE SAID all along that the road commission should maintain the roads and get out of the airport business," Troutt said. "Eureka Road in our southern end probably is the worst in the county and a prime example of how the commission is neglecting its duties to the citizens, while catering to world travelers."

"Now, we may get some work done on the road," Troutt was informed that the road commission had done no work on Eureka in past years because the former Romulus City Council had refused to allow the county to condemn along the right-of-way for widening.

"I told them we have a new council, and that they should ask it for the right to condemn property before blaming the council for the commission's lack of progress," Troutt said. "A wider road would benefit Romulus and though I can see the county being forced to take a property owner into court over condemnation, I can't see one individual standing in the way of progress for the entire city."

Schools eye election plan

By KAY DeBORD
Of The Roman Staff
New, simplified and less expensive elections may be in the future for Romulus residents if a proposal presented to the Romulus Board of Education is adopted.

The proposal for unifying election procedures presented by Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar was favorably received by the board.

Duplication of effort and expense was the main reason for seeking a solution for both the city and the school district.

In the proposal, Folmar said that his office would be responsible for the maintenance of the registration rolls and will conduct elections for both the city and school district.

AT THE PRESENT time, each maintains its own registration, but the city uses the school facilities to store a majority of the voting machines, which in turn, are used by the schools for their elections.

Folmar's office would conduct election inspector's classes and the school district would pay its own according to the proposal election costs.

Following discussion last Wednesday, the board decided that the school district would maintain its own board of election canvassers and the board secretary would continue in his area of responsibility.

The district also would election petitions and notify the city clerk's office of their existence.

PRECEDENT for the action, cited by Folmar, was the City of Wyandotte's joint-election system.

Law requires agreement between the city and school board with points of responsibility to be set in writing.

Legal counsels for the city and school district are to meet superintendent of schools, respectively, to study state laws and school election codes on the merger. Then the final decision will be up to the board of education.

If adopted, the new system would be in operation in time for the June school election.

City worth $200 million

The City of Romulus is worth $200 million.

Romulus City Assessor Harold Reiner yesterday said the city will pass the $200 million state equalized value level this year, when he finishes computing personal property tax.

"At this point, we have set real property value in excess of $148 million, and estimate personal property in excess of $58 million," he said. "But to be safe right now, I'd say the city's worth in excess of $200 million, without the personal property findings complete yet."

LAST YEAR, Romulus' value was set at $186.7 million.

The new estimate sets growth at a 7.5 per cent ratio—a healthy rate when compared to surrounding communities, the assessor added.

"You could say that building in this community increased at the rate of $14 million," Reiner said.

By comparison, Westland with a $337 million tax base last year, showed a $13 million growth — slightly under four per cent.

At the same time, growth in community could not outstrip a rising state equalization factor.

LAST YEAR'S factor was set at 1.88, and this year the factor will be 2.03.

And now it's in shambles

House 'enjoyed' better days

The house at 13660 Wayne Rd., Romulus has enjoyed better days.

There was a time when a family, possibly of five or six members, could hear the animals in the barn without the din of inter-continental jets overhead.

But today, 13660 Wayne Rd. is in a shambles, due to neglect, weather and vandals. The latest blow was dealt to a shed, long abandoned and nearly falling down, but finally crushed in gale-force winds which swept across open fields to send the entire structure against the house last week.

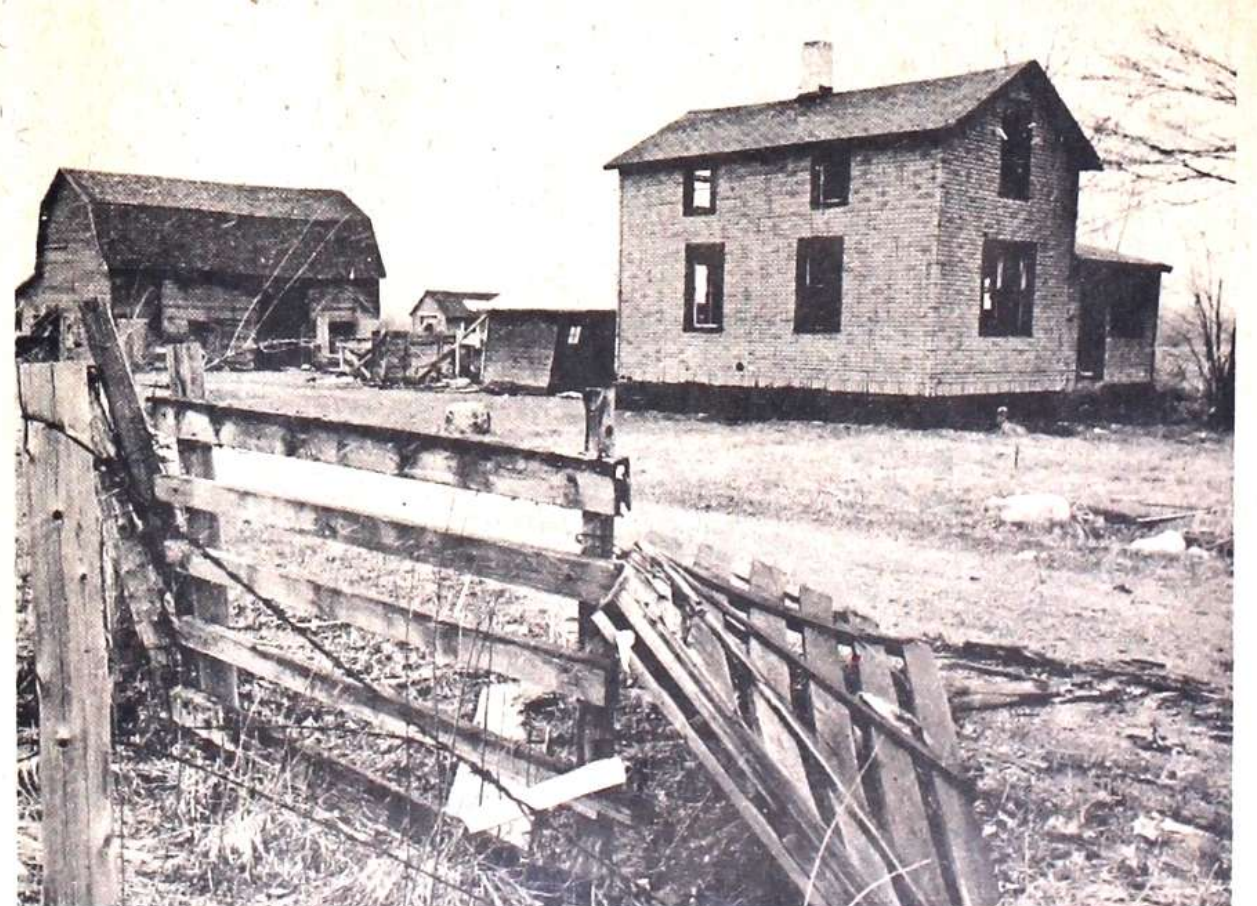

"It's unsafe to stay inside the shed today, so the vandals and vagrants who have made temporary beds in it will have to move."

The house itself offers no shelter because youths have torn out nearly every plastered wall and have destroyed the steps to the cellar and bedrooms on the second level.

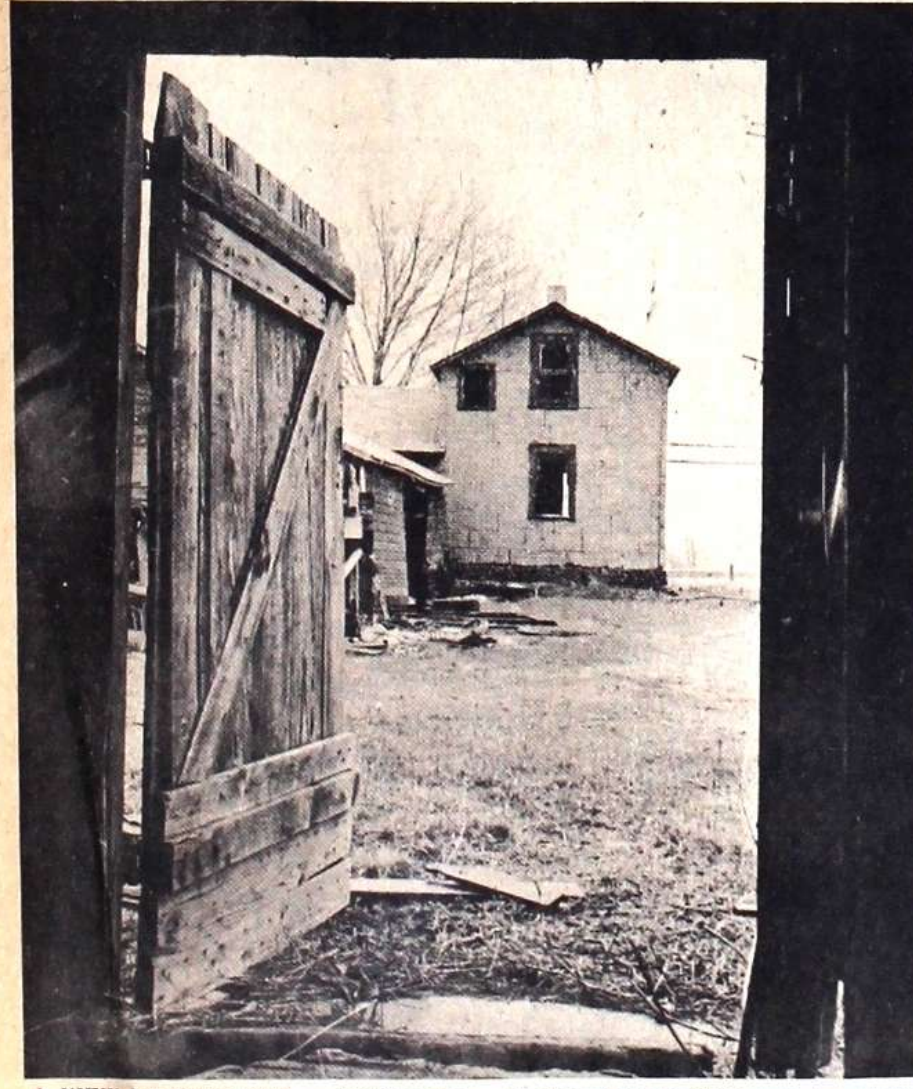

Today, a tattered couch replaces what was once a sturdy, though small, stairway to two bedrooms upstairs.

Where once children's shouts and giggles echoed, the wind howls and occasional screams and laugh resound from a teen-aged party.

The at 13660 Wayne Rd. lies abandoned in the elements. But you still can see some of 13660's glory.

Tales of glories resound within the walls of these buildings left standing in Romulus despite the work of vandals.

A VIEW LOOKING OUT — Replace the broken glass and pick up some of the rubble, and this is what the owner of the barn at 13660 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus would have seen years ago when it was a thriving farm. Today,

Township officials take course offered by heart association

Volunteer firemen, assigned to Van Buren Township's Fire Department No. 2 on Ecorse Road, administrative officials and some employees of Van Buren Township attended the initial monthly training session of a cardio pulmonary resuscitation classes.

The monthly classes, urged by the Michigan Heart

Association, are held at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., under the direction of George Heifner, director of the township's Civil Defense program.

Heifner said that the training sessions are open to township residents. Interested persons can contact the township hall at 699-2001 for further information.

"Cardio pulmonary resuscitation is an emergency first aid procedure, which requires no equipment and combines direct artificial respiration and artificial circulation," Heifner said. "The best rescue techniques for artificial respiration and artificial circulation," Heifner said.

"The best rescue techniques for artificial respiration is mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and the best rescue technique for artificial circulation is external cardiac compression. When necessary these techniques must be used together to provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation," Heifner added.

"What happens during the first few minutes following an apparent heart attack may mean the difference of life or death," Heifner said. The training instructions made available by the Michigan Heart Association through its cardiopulmonary resuscitation classes is aimed at reducing the number of deaths caused by heart attacks in Michigan.

Club blindfolds new members for Lions induction ceremony

When several new members were inducted into the ranks of the Belleville Area Lions Club, they were blindfolded.

"We just wanted the membership to know the meaning of blindness and to work harder for the worthy cause Lions clubs are dedicated to," said Chum Stockwell of the Belleville Lions.

At present, the club is preparing for the annual white cane sale.

"THIS YEAR we want to set the state record, and we will with the support of all citizens," Stockwell added.

Harry Hunter, a co-founder of Blind Activities Inc., also took part in the program. Hunter has organized bowling leagues throughout the metropolitan area for blind persons. He is blind himself.

Hunter urged Lions members to support the Michigan Lions Eye Bank. The eye bank is an organization formed to collect human eyes and to distribute them to hospitals where a cornea is needed for grafting or transplanting.

The eye-bank is a joint project between Lions clubs in Michigan and University Hospital in Ann Arbor and Wayne State University.

STOCKWELL SAID eyes are removed after death from persons who have "generously authorized this use, while living."

Eye bank pledge cards can be obtained from the Lions Club.

Clark to assume duties as recreation director

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees has approved the appointment of Jeffery Clark as the township's first full-time recreation director.

Clark, 21, who lives in East Lansing, assumed the position last Monday.

Clark was one of 28 persons who had filed applications for the director's position.

THE APPOINTMENT was approved at a special meeting of the trustees held Friday night.

The new director will graduate from the Michigan

State University (MSU) in June with a bachelor of science degree in parks and recreation administration.

Clark was educated in Detroit and Grosse Pointe Farms schools prior to attending MSU.

He is a former camp counselor for the YMCA and animal control officer for the Ingham County Sheriff's Department.

He succeeds William A.

Lloyd, a biology teacher at South Junior High School, who served as the part-time director. Lloyd resigned in January, but agreed to stay on until a successor was appointed.

THE TOWNSHIP trustees expanded the position to a full-time job following the acquisition of the park and lake.

The park is a 101-acre site on the north shore of the lake.

It's for senior citizens

Task force hunts for housing

An informal "Senior Citizens Housing Task Force" has been house hunting. Romulus Mayor Pro-Tem Beverly McAnally has been meeting periodically with eight senior citizens to explore various methods of housing available to the community.

The project was undertaken in the hopes that a rumored June lifting of a freeze on federal housing funds will make money available to the city for constructing low-cost senior citizen housing.

"WE'VE VISITED Wayne, Taylor, Inkster and Westland to get an idea of what's available now," Mrs. McAnally said. "So far, the group seems impressed with housing designs which give them each their own unit to live in, allowing them the same type of privacy available in homes."

Systems which have impressed the study group include Wayne's award winning public housing project and a townhouse project in Taylor.

"We visited Inkster's senior citizen towers," Mrs. McAnally said. "And though they provide good housing, the members of the group didn't seem impressed with the idea of riding an elevator to and from their living units."

The study group includes Ira Cooply, Hazel Miller, Edward Wallace, Ethel LaMar, Cecilia Rinke, Dora Reich, Dorothy Icenogle and H. L. McIntoch, of the Romulus Senior Citizen Club. Each was selected by the club to make inspections with Mrs. McAnally.

"WE INTEND to meet with Michigan State Housing Development Authority representatives to discuss what is available to us, Mrs. McAnally said. "It appears that all that is open to us right now is private development."

Yet, Mrs. McAnally said the group has heard there may be a lifting on the funding ban sometime in June, and they're hoping to get on a waiting list.

"There has been a freeze on federal housing funds that has affected construction of senior citizen housing in all but the private sector."

"We're hoping the meeting with authority representatives will show the state we're interested in the concept, and get us a jump on other communities," Mrs. McAnally added. "Meanwhile, we'll also be studying those plans available to us, and discussing them with other communities in the hope of finding an alternative in case the federal funds never come."

FAA to probe misuse charge

"It is my understanding that HUD goes for a $15,000 relocation allowance in every instance, while the FAA and other agencies attempt to cut down relocation costs," the FAA official added.

"THAT'S NOT TRUE," the city's urban renewal director responded. "HUD specifies that residents who must be relocated should be given the choice of staying in the same neighborhoods or moved to similar housing that they lost. "I once put together a deal which moved a person from an $18,000 home into a $45,000 home, because that was the qualification under the law."

"In Romulus we have had the citizens moved from housing, which is sometimes substandard, into other substandard housing through airport expansion."

"The road commission moved one woman from a $15,000 home into an $18,000 home which wouldn't pass the city inspection. You can't find standard housing in this community for less than $23,000, and yet, the road commission seems to want to cut corners."

"I HAVE ENOUGH work to do on my own program without getting involved in this thing, but I became involved at the mayor's request to insure that citizens are given their fair due under the law, Wilhelm added. "From my observation, and their testimony, that hasn't been the case."

The FAA official told Troutt "it had been our experience that there were poor relationships between airports and surrounding communities throughout the nation."

"It has happened too often that the public was shown one set of plans while the airport governing bodies held another as their ideal, and pursued them," he added. "There is a need for greater cooperation between the city and the airport in planning, and I see no reason why Romulus can't benefit from the airport."

'Purge' comes to end

The first phase of the voter registration purge has ended. The Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar has removed more than 450 names from voter rolls following the mailing of more than 1,300 letters to addresses of people who have not voted in the city for the past few years. The mailing preliminary was to streamline the rolls, a process which would insure more efficient election work in the future.

"We're now assured of a more accurate voter count," Folmar said. "When you have to provide machines based on the number of voters in each precinct, this also leads to a great savings to taxpayers."

BY STATE LAW, a clerk must provide one machine for every 300 registered voters, and at a cost of more than $2,000 per machine, the cost can soar unless accurate tallies are kept on voter registrations.

"Now we're more certain of the number of machines we must have on hand at each election," Folmar said.

"While we complied by state law in the past, we found that certain precincts had more than enough machines, while others didn't have enough to handle the voters efficiently," he added. "That can be attributed to keeping an excess numbers of voters on the rolls."

Persons removed from the rolls will not be banned from voting, should they have missed Folmar's mailing, however. Their names will be kept on file at the clerk's office, and if they show up to vote, a check will be made on election day, he said.

FOLLOWING THEIR vote, they will be returned to the active files.

Church to hold services

Good Friday services will be held from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. at the Romulus Wesleyan Church, 37300 Goddard Rd., Romulus.

The Rev. David Standfest will provide a message on "The Purpose of the Calvary." The choir from the Community United Methodist Church will sing "Good Friday Meditation," including a solo by Yvonne Standfest "On a Rugged Hill."

The service is jointly directed by the Rev. Standfest and the Rev. Hal Ferris from the Community United Methodist Church and will conclude with the serving of communion.

Troutt transfers his bar

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt is a step closer to getting out of the bar business. The Romulus City Council unanimously has approved his request to transfer the ownership of Terry's Lounge from his name to his daughter's Connie Price.

The recommendation was sent along to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission that is expected to ratify the change in ownership to Troutt's 26-year-old daughter.

Troutt was forced to give up ownership of Terry's Lounge by a state law that prohibits the chief law enforcement officer in a community from operating a drinking establishment.

As Mayor of Romulus, Troutt heads the city's law enforcement operations.

Voter wants to be heard

Sander Levin learns person-to-person style

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise-Roman Staff Writer

Generally, the local politician is credited with being "close to the people."

That tag is pinned on the local political campaigner because he gets out once every two or four years to knock on doors and ask the voters "what do you think?"

Of course, those walks generally coincide with political campaigns. As one resident put it recently in Westland, "We see your faces in our mailboxes and at our doors when you want to get elected."

WELL, SANDER LEVIN wants to be elected—first as the Democratic nominee for the governor's seat and then to the state's top post in November.

So, whatever Levin does during this campaign won't be a true indication of what he will do should he win—just as the door to door marches on the local level aren't true indications of every local politician's dedication to "stay at the grassroots" once

'We see your faces in our mailboxes and at our doors when you want to be elected.'

he's been voted into office.

Levin has borrowed from "The Local Political Handbook" and is touring the area to, as he puts it, "Get into the voter's shoes."

And he's making a sincere effort at it...

And it's having an effect on him.

"I'VE LEARNED that the voters are truly educated people," he said on a campaign "tour" of Westland, Romulus and Wayne recently. "All too often the politicians ignore them, using the old cliché that 'they don't know what's good for them.'"

"But, if the voters don't know what they want, why should they choose a candidate to handle that chore?"

"I don't think politicians have bothered to ask, or are afraid to ask the voters what they really think."

"IT MAY OPEN THEIR eyes, and change some of their preconceived ideas."

Levin didn't admit whether he had some of those "preconceived notions" prior to starting his visiting campaign in the voters' homes, but it's almost certain he did.

Every person has some notions about what is good...for them.

But, in Levin's case, he's asking the voters for their ideas concerning their welfare long before he tells what's good for them based on his own philosophy.

He's finding that inflation, fuel shortages, political integrity and police protection concern his "potential constituents."

HE'S ALSO LEARNING they haven't heard from Gov. William Milliken since the Republican governor was elected four years ago, edging Levin by a slim percentage point in the 1970 election.

It's interesting to see how honest the voter is when asked what concerns him the most. After the initial shock, the voter expresses himself courageously, telling Levin bluntly they don't trust any politician.

"IT SEEMS AS THOUGH once they get in office, they change," a Wayne voter snapped. If nothing else, that voter's concern served as a warning to Levin that he had better toe the line. He's being watched closer, as are all candidates this year.

But, the important aspect of that statement is that the voter is honest, whether he ruffles Levin's feathers or not.

THE VOTERS OF this area are interested in speaking out, and are willing enough and educated enough to do so.

But, they have to be asked. And Sander Levin is giving them the opportunity.

As we see it

The victim of crime needs a spokesman

(Editor's Note: Today's editorial comes from FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, courtesy of the April issue of FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin. Though Director Kelley's editorial was directed to the attention of law enforcement officials, we feel the message is most reading for our readers. And we share Mr. Kelley's belief that it's time more attention be given to the victims of crime.)

"Victims are the most neglected consequence of crime. Statistically, the risk of becoming a victim of crime is demonstrated by the rate of lawlessness. But this is only a small part of the full story."

"Those whose lives are lost, whose persons are injured, and whose property is taken by crime are not its only victims. Crime is bad enough when its impact is confined to those persons it personally accosts. But lawbreaking is rarely that selective."

"Crime often causes far-reaching damage to many innocent persons beyond the scope of its individual acts. This is nothing new to an experienced law enforcement officer. I am, however, painfully reminded of the fact when reviewing the circumstances of the murders of law enforcement officers throughout the nation."

"The record-setting toll of 134 local, county, State, and Federal law enforcement officers killed due to felonious acts in 1973 is a sorrowful figure. It is a tragic count. Even more grievous, perhaps, than the loss of these valiant officers' lives is the fact that their deaths left nearly three times their number in immediate family survivors."

"The fabric of considerably more than 300 lives of men, women, and children was severely torn with the loss of a husband, a father, a son, or a brother. The tentacles of crime had, at the moment of these deaths, seized the loved ones in a terrifying grip which would likely leave its ugly imprint on their hearts and minds for the remainder of their lives. And this says nothing of the shattered remnants of their livelihood."

"These survivors, as well as any persons similarly affected by the commission of crime, are truly victims. If the number of the officers' survivors is at all representative, society has reason to shudder at the huge group of persons spiritually and functionally impoverished by the more than 18,500 murders, for example, which occurred in 1972."

"Yet, we hear very little about the victims of crime. The reports of their loss too often are the sole accounts of their plight or their demise. This is in puzzling contrast to the frequently prolonged, hand-wringing appeals made in behalf of those who commit crime. There seems to be no scarcity of spokesmen who will concoct any rationale from any platform to excuse persons accused or convicted of crime."

"Certainly, our society must not ignore the criminal offender. The community has an obligation to see that he is afforded every protection the law provides and, if convicted, a responsibility to seek his meaningful rehabilitation."

"However, I cannot help but wonder if more public attention on the victims of crime would help serve as a strong crime deterrent. Surely, their stories of suffering and mental anguish would better capture the misery and meanness of crime, hopefully to an extent that might even trigger the conscience of all but the worst would be offenders. Furthermore, it would put lawlessness in its proper perspective—as a clear menace to society rather than a seemingly lifeless event which simply involves prosecutors and the police pitted against an accused."

"We should all strive to remember, not forget, the victims of crime."

Bill Ford represents local school control

When Congressman John Conyers loses a vote in the U.S. House, he usually fires off insinuations of racism at those on the opposite side of aisleway.

Last week the Detroit congressman ripped a successful anti-bus vote in the House as a "barefaced attempt to give back to local authorities the right to maintain racism in the public schools."

He also chastised President Nixon and the 239 Democratic and Republican congressmen who supported the anti-busing measure. "It was disgraceful," the Detroit congressman fumed.

We weren't surprised by Conyers' play of words. It seems when someone votes against Conyers, he pictures a sinister racist plot.

Congressman William D. Ford, who represents Western Wayne County in the U.S. House of Representatives also saw through Conyers' "posturing."

The Taylor Democrat, reacting to the Conyers charge, said: "His (Conyers) statement is an irresponsible response, but it's predictable on the basis of his record of frequent posturing for his constituents."

In dismissing the Conyers tirade, Ford said "Conyers feels he can represent his constituency, but he won't allow me to represent mine."

Whether the anti-busing amendment will hold up in the Senate is questionable at this juncture—but it serves as a sounding bell for the U.S. Supreme Court.

When 239 congressmen from across the country will join in support of an anti-busing amendment, it tells us a lot—the vast majority of Americans want no part of governmental dictated busing across district school lines.

Ford's firm stand against forced busing is a reflection of the 15th Congressional District...and he deserves the continued support of Western Wayne County citizens.

'STOP THAT!'

For Republican hopefuls

Sleepless nights if GOP's Sparling loses the 'big one'

Expect Republicans across the country to experience sleepless nights if GOP candidate James M. Sparling, Jr., loses the April 16 special congressional election in Michigan's eighth district.

This finally will prove to many faithful party members just how serious are the wounds inflicted on the GOP by Watergate, the cover up and especially President Nixon's modest income tax payments.

So important has the race between Sparling and Democratic nominee J. Bob Traxler, a member of the Michigan State Legislature, become that both parties are pouring money and speakers into the Saginaw area and angling for the maximum media exposure for their man.

THE RECENT LOSS of Vice President Gerald R. Ford's House seat in Michigan's fifth district was a blow to Republican morale felt nationwide. Sparling's defeat would be viewed as little short of a catastrophe.

One national Republican figure contemplating the impact a Republican loss would have on his party recalled the story of the sailor who got into a knife fight with a Middle East type on the Istanbul waterfront.

"You didn't even hurt me," taunted the sailor as the fight drew to a close.

"Wait until you try to nod your head," his opponent replied with a steely grin.

IN AN ORDINARY political year the 45-year-old Sparling would be expected to win in a walk. He knows the district and its problems like the back of his hand since he served for a dozen years as administrative assistant to the previous congressman, James Harvey, a Republican who resigned to become a federal judge.

'I've been there, and I know how it works.'

Sparling easily defeated three opponents—including State Sen. Robert Richardson, another former congressional aide, in the March 19 primary.

In a district with deeply fixed Republican traditions, Democratic nominee Traxler garnered a surprising 44 per cent of the total vote cast in the primary.

DURING A 10-WEEK period ending last August Sparling served as a special assistant to President Nixon for legislative affairs. Sparling's biographical sketch said he resigned that job "primarily because of personal family reasons."

In this post-Watergate period such a connection with the White House undoubtedly was a handicap rather than a help to Sparling.

In his campaigning Sparling puts as much distance as he can between himself and the White House but he does not discard the plus all his years in Washington have given him in the way of experience. His theme is: "I've been there, and I know how it works."

But earlier this week he admitted extending an invitation to the President to visit the district.

And that move has sent a shock wave through the ranks of worried state Republicans.

A former newspaper man himself, Sparling has a developed sense of how to keep in the public eye. Pete Teetley, press aide to Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R.-Mich., has been taken off the senate payroll and assigned to Sparling's headquarters to help in the public relations arrangements.

TRAXLER HAS GONE all out in denouncing Watergate and Nixon's handling of the situation.

"Send me as a messenger," he tells the voters of the eighth district suggesting that in this way the people can let Washington know they want the Watergate mess cleaned up.

Sometimes referred to as "Bingo Bob" for his sponsorship of legislation which legalized bingo in Michigan, Traxler is a strong public speaker. He is vulnerable, however, to the charge that he has had only an indifferent attendance record in the Michigan Legislature.

'WE CAN GO ON WELFARE, OR RUN FOR OFFICE'

How do you prepare for death? Cancer society gets medical advice

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — Every day, somewhere, doctors have to tell parents: "I'm sorry, your child has leukemia."

Far too often the diagnosis of this blood cancer is a death sentence. How do parents, or brothers and sisters, cope with it?

USUALLY NOT too well, with family members often becoming "secondary victims of cancer," says Dr. David M. Kaplan, a sociologist of Stanford University Medical School.

He studied 40 families from the time that a child was diagnosed as having leukemia until three months after the child's death. He reported his results at the concluding sessions of an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers here last week.

Only four families came out of the experience "essentially intact" without serious problems, Dr. Kaplan said. The other 36 had either new or aggravated problems that ranged up to divorces, drinking problems, troubles with other children in the family or attempts quickly to have a "replacement child."

DR. KAPLAN told of one family in which a boy died at age three of leukemia. His identical twin five years later said he thought he ought to go outdoors and "get run over" so he "could be in heaven with Jeffrey," his brother.

'Make early efforts to help families cope with impending tragedy...'

"Many patients and their families do not know how to make the most of the time they have been given."

He said it is urgent to "make early efforts to help families cope with impending tragedy before patterns of reaction become entrenched."

WHETHER TO tell the truth about cancer is not the question, because even small children know that they are seriously ill, he said.

Giving some advice, garnered from his five year study, Dr. Kaplan said:

—Don't go seeking faith healers.

—Don't think that in the sweepstakes your child will be the lucky one to survive, because if he doesn't "and the battle is finally lost, it will hit like a ton of bricks."

—Make the best use of the time remaining.

—Don't try to have a replacement child while one child is sick. There is enough to do for that child without having the burdens of pregnancy.

—Mourning can be relatively brief if parents have truly realized their child likely will die and has ended his misery.

—There will be anguish and hell. Try to learn to live with it."

RETIREMENT BADGES—Two veteran members of the Belleville Reserve Police Association were presented with special badges during a recent retirement party held

Retiring officers get special police badges

Two retiring Belleville reserve police officers were the guests of a surprise retirement party.

Thirty-eight people, including friends, fellow police officers and members of the Belleville City Council were in attendance at the retirement party which honored Arthur Burnell of 324 W. Columbia Ave. and Maxwell Martin of 46050 Bemis Rd.

Burnell was a charter member of the Belleville Reserve Police Association, founded in 1955. He has held various offices on the reserve police force. He recently served as secretary of the group.

Martin has been a member of the reserve force since 1959.

Among city officials at the party were Councilman Ellis

Amerman and his wife, Thelma; Councilman Howard R. Stinehour, who is the city's police commissioner, and Mrs. Royce E. Smith.

Other guests included Belleville Police Chief Clayton (Mickey) McLaughlin; Mrs. C.E. McLaughlin; Sgt. Arthur Monks of the police reserves, and Vincent Goodnuff, former member of the police reserves.

Sumpter considers use of sheriffs as the township's policing force

Negotiations between the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the Sumpter Township Board of Trustees over contracted law enforcement services soon may begin after the township sent a letter of intent to negotiate with the sheriffs.

The letter makes no commitment, but offers to discuss price and services for the sheriff's patrol, Sumpter Township Police Commissioner Noah Folks said.

Some disagreement exists on the township board over whether the township should retain its police department that has operated for 20 years or contract for the sheriff's services. The sheriffs negotiations may be able to solve the dispute, Folks said. REPRESENTATIVES from the sheriff's department visited Sumpter last month to demonstrate the services available to the township. Township officials were given helicopter rides over the area during the meeting.

The negotiations will tell if the sheriff's services are feasible for the township, Folks said.

Folks, however, added that he believes Sumpter should retain its own police force.

"The trend all over the country is to have people who live in the area be police and with the sheriff's department, you have people from all over patrolling," he said.

OTHER MEMBERS of the board, such as the township clerk and trustee, Clarence Hoffman, have disagreed publicly with Folks. However, no solid opinion has been issued by the board on the matter.

Watery passage

Residents along Harris Road east of Sumpter Road found Mother Nature had turned their gravel street into a waterway this week after severe thunder storms flooded many low-lying areas throughout Western Wayne County. Undaunted by the watery passage, the Sumpter Township residents found a small portion of the road still passable after the monsoon-like weather.—Enterprise-Roman photo.

Of causeways

Chamber joins township to request improvement

The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce has joined Van Buren Township officials in requesting the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) widen the causeways leading to the Belleville and Denton Road bridges.

In a communication sent to James Davey, managing director of the WCRC, Chamber President John Barber said:

"It has come to our attention that Van Buren Township has requested the road commission strengthen the shoulders of the approaches to the Belleville and Denton Road bridges.

"With the construction work being done on the I-94 Expressway and at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, it would seem that the waste concrete material would be available at a nominal cost.

Barber added that erosion of the approaches last summer "was extremely costly to the merchants of Belleville." Downtown business was curtailed severely when the approaches were closed for repairs.

He said with the waste concrete material available, now is an excellent time to take the preventative measures to eliminate future recurrences.

The causeways began to collapse when water was drained from Belleville Lake during the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' game fish restocking.

and other animals in the area were disturbed.

"That's when the rats started to coming into the township," Hedman said.

Hedman added that he will investigate the availability of state and federal funds for a township-wide baiting and trapping program as well as a plan to educate township residents on ways of eliminating the rat problem.

Hedman added that the rat situation is not too serious now, but steps must be taken to prevent rat population growth.

County to probe township for rats

The state and county health departments have begun a survey of Van Buren Township to determine the extent of the area's rat problem.

The survey was prompted by reports of rats "moving" into the township during the construction project at the I-94 Expressway west of Haggerty Road.

Township Treasurer Ralph Hedman said that when new culverts were put in at the construction project last October and November, rats

Easter rates something special from the cook

Highlight Easter breakfast with Sunrise Special Bread

SOMETHING SPECIAL—Prettier than an Easter bonnet and a sweet surprise for Easter breakfast is this Sunrise Special Bread. Made with German sweet chocolate, walnuts and orange rind, its flavor and texture will be a real appetite pleaser. Coconut Filbert Coffee Ring with sugar glaze is for coconut fanatics and a fancier coffee cake would be hard to find.

Sunrise services are traditional in many parts of the country and just as traditional are sumptuous Easter breakfasts to welcome the day and the dawn of a clean new season.

Breads are featured at Easter breakfast tables and, generally, there's a particular favorite for every ethnic background. Here's one, however, that's typically American in origin and bound to be devoured by all your breakfast celebrants. Sunrise Special Bread is basically a nut bread flavored with chopped German sweet chocolate and orange rind. In order for the full flavor to be appreciated, it should be baked the day before and wrapped in foil or plastic wrap.

It's delicious all by itself but even better spread with sweet chocolate glaze just before serving. The glaze is simple - just remember to save three squares of German Sweet Chocolate when you prepare the bread batter.

As a second feature, Coconut Filbert Coffee Ring with sugar glaze is made to order for coconut enthusiasts. Flaked coconut is spread on the batter, and the dough is rolled, jelly-roll fashion. More flaked coconut is sprinkled over the sugar glaze while the coffee ring is still hot. Two wonderful ways to start Easter.

Sunrise Special Bread

- 1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate
- 3 cups biscuit mix
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup milk
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup orange juice
- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup chopped walnuts
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind

Sweet Chocolate Glaze
Set aside 3 squares of the chocolate; chop remaining chocolate. Place biscuit mix and sugar in a large bowl. Combine egg, milk, and orange juice; add to biscuit mix. Beat vigorously about 30 seconds. Stir in the chopped chocolate, the nuts, and orange rind. Pour into a well-greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 55 to 60 minutes, or until cake tester inserted into center comes out clean. Let stand in pan about 15 minutes. Then remove from pan and cool thoroughly on rack. Wrap in aluminum foil or plastic wrap. Let stand for one day before slicing. Top with glaze; garnish with orange sections, if desired.

Sweet Chocolate Glaze

- 3 squares sweet cooking chocolate
- 1 teaspoon butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon water
- two-thirds cup unsifted confectioners sugar
- Dash of salt

Few drops of vanilla
Melt chocolate and butter in water in small saucepan over low heat. Add to sugar and salt in a bowl; blend well. Add vanilla. If desired, add a small amount of hot water for a thinner consistency. Makes about one-third cup glaze.

Coconut Filbert Coffee Ring

- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped filberts
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flaked coconut
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- one-third cup granulated sugar
- 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- one-third cup shortening
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- one-third cup milk
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
- 1 tablespoon (about) hot milk
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flaked coconut, plain or toasted

Combine brown sugar, nuts, and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup coconut; set aside. Sift flour with granulated sugar, baking powder, and salt. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk. Add to flour mixture and stir until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll into an 18x9-inch rectangle. Brush with part of the melted butter. Then spread with coconut mixture. Roll from long side as for jelly roll. Wet edge to seal.

Mandarin Orange Sauce

Drain 1 can (11 ounces) mandarin orange segments and 1 can (8 $\frac{1}{4}$ ounces) grapes or pineapple tidbits, reserving $\frac{1}{4}$ cup liquid. Combine with $\frac{3}{4}$ cup orange juice and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Mix 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 tablespoons sugar and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon. Add liquids and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Fold in drained fruit. Yield: 2 cups.

Creole Sauce

- $\frac{1}{4}$ Cup grated onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chopped parsley
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup minced green pepper
- 1 tablespoon lard
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 cups tomato juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar

Cook chopped vegetables in lard until lightly browned. Add the flour and stir until smooth. Gradually add the tomato juice and seasonings. Cook and stir until thick.

For dessert serve Easter Dream Puffs

Easter deserves a dream dessert. To fill the bill prepare cream puffs, pack each with colorful ice cream and top with whipped cream or berries.

Lard works crust magic for these puffs as it does for pies. The puffs can be made days ahead of time and frozen, ready to fill as fancy suggests.

Easter Dream Puffs

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 4 eggs
- 1 quart spumoni, strawberry or mint ice cream
- $\frac{1}{2}$ pint whipping cream or topping

Add lard to salted water and bring to a boil. Add flour all at once, and stir vigorously until ball forms in center of pan. Use medium heat while stirring. Cool slightly. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition until mixture is smooth. Mixture should be very stiff. Shape on greased cookie sheet by dropping from spoon or using pastry tube. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on rack. Cut tops from puffs and fill each with one-third to $\frac{1}{2}$ cup ice cream. Replace tops of puffs and top with whipped cream or topping. Yield: 10 to 12 filled puffs.

Be sure to have something green to add eye appeal

Brussels Sprouts ala Creme

- 1 qt. brussels sprouts
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 cup hot water
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon green onion, minced
- 1 cup sour cream
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon dried dill (optional)

Wash sprouts; remove any yellow or old leaves; cut an X into stem end so it will cook quickly. Dissolve bouillon in hot water; bring to a boil with minced onion and salt. Add sprouts. Cover pan and cook 8-10 minutes or until just tender. Drain liquid; add sour cream and toss. Sprinkle with dill. Serves 6-7.

Avocado Cress Salad

Arrange sliced avocado on bed of watercress. Sprinkle with your favorite salad dressing and this Crunchy Topping-about 2 tablespoons per salad:

- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup grape-nuts cereal
 - $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon onion salt
 - $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon garlic powder
 - Dash of pepper
 - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- Mix well before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Baked ham calls for a sweet touch; take your choice of four sauces

Ham is delicious by itself but with a bit of sweet sauce, it becomes a gourmet delight. The four sauces offered are simple to make and varied to suit just about any taste. Pour into a pretty serving dish and pass it around after the plate of baked ham.

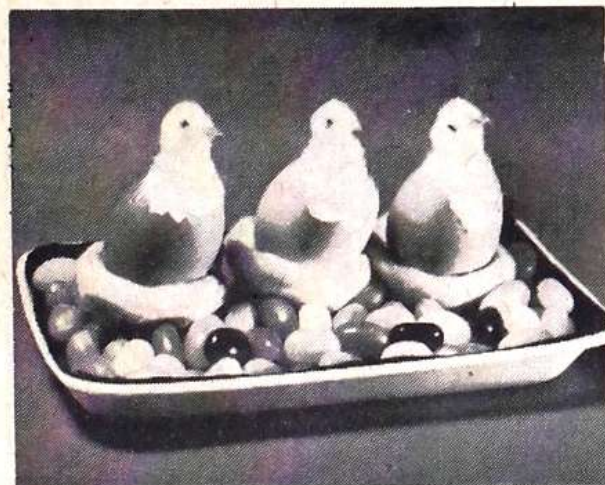

To prepare topping, combine $\frac{1}{2}$ cup each of peach and pineapple preserves and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon coriander. Stir in one-third cup each slivered almonds and flaked coconut. Yield: Approximately 1 and one-third cups.

Fruit and Nut Topping

If topping is desired, spoon half of it over ham 40 minutes before end of cooking time. Return to oven for 20 minutes; then spoon on remaining topping and continue baking.

Spiced Fruit Sauce

- 1 can (17 ounces) fruit cocktail
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground cloves
- $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup frozen concentrated orange juice
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Make a centerpiece for your Easter table

Looking for an unusual party favor or an interesting centerpiece for your Easter table? Here are a few easy-to-make and economical decorations. Dyeing and decorating Easter eggs is fun and easy - a custom brought to this country by the Pennsylvania Dutch to celebrate Paas, the Pennsylvania Dutch word for Easter.

Prose for pork

The virtues of pork have been praised by some of the world's best known literary giants. "No animal affords a greater variety to the palate of the epicure," wrote Pliny the Younger, early Roman writer. Virgil gave thanks to the gods for bringing "corn for mast" to fatten the hogs which the Romans turned into hams, sides and sausages. The flesh of the hog was praised by Linnaeus, 18th century Swedish writer and botanist, as "a wholesome food." and Charles Lamb immortalized the matchless savor of roast pig in his sparkling prose.

breakfast. Rinse the shells and let dry. Now color them with vivid Easter egg dyes. If you use cold-water fizz tablets, even the youngest toddlers can help. Spoon dye bath over shells to color them inside and out.

To make the chicks, you'll need pastel cosmetic balls in two sizes - small for the chicks and large ones for the nests-and felt-tipped pens in black and red. Press out the center of a small yellow cotton cosmetic ball, forming it into cone. Shape the top of the cone into a round head. Then make a beak by pinching the cotton into a point at the front of the head. Use a black felt-tipped pen to "paint" on the chick's eyes and color the beak with a red pen. Make cotton "nests" from large cosmetic balls. Nestle cotton chick in the dyed eggshell-then place the shell in one of the nests.

To complete your decoration, fill a shallow tray (a Styrofoam or plastic meat tray will do nicely) with colored jelly beans and arrange the baby chicks in the tray.

Baked ham a 'must' for Easter feasting

Fresh and bright as spring flowers and gaily colored eggs, a juicy pink baked ham will make your Easter dinner table sing of spring and joy. Traditional feasting is updated when a "fully-cooked" boneless ham is chosen to head the bill of fare.

Preparation of the feast is easy since a handsome ham stands alone, requiring neither stuffing nor gravy for appetite appeal. Modern hams are oven ready and need only a few hours baking before scoring success at the table. No longer necessary nor desirable are the preliminary chores of soaking and simmering. "Fully-cooked" means a reduction in oven time and boneless signifies that carving also is a simple matter. Even calorie-counting diners can enjoy today's leaner hams with clear conscience.

Baked Ham

Place a 7 to 10-pound boneless smoked "fully-cooked" ham on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) until the thermometer registers 140 degrees F. Allow approximately 15 to 18 minutes per pound. Garnish ham with hot peaches baked and basted with spiced syrup containing chopped maraschino cherries until heated through.

Everybody's trying to save on food these days. It's one of the few areas of the budget where you can cut corners by smart shopping and clever cooking. Economy dishes need not be boring. Witness this delectable, fancy Elegant Gelled Egg Loaf made with hard-cooked eggs in a lemon and mayonnaise gelatin base with crisp trimmings. Unflavored gelatin is an artful way to economize for it turns leftovers or economy foods into appetizing and interesting dishes.

- Elegant Gelled Egg Loaf
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper

- $\frac{3}{4}$ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons grated onion
- $\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely diced celery
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup finely diced green pepper
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped pimiento
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; add salt, lemon juice and pepper. Cool. Add mayonnaise; mix in remaining ingredients. Turn into a 3-cup loaf pan or mold; chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens.

YIELD: 4-6 servings.
NOTE: If desired, recipe may be doubled.

Joanne Cikalo, Larry E. Hale exchange vows

In a single ring ceremony March 23 at Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus, Joanne Marie Cikalo became the bride of Larry Eugene Hale. The young Romulus couple exchanged vows at 2 p.m. before the Rev. Lonnie England and some 50 assembled relatives and friends.

"The Wedding March" was played on the organ by Sue Simmons.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dixie Cikalo of 37027 Goddard Road, Romulus, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hale of 15437 Oakbrook, Romulus.

Joanne made her own wedding gown, a toe-touching creation of white polyester sprinkled with tiny pink flowers. Fashioned in the empire mode, the dress featured a short train, scoop neckline and short bell sleeves. She also made the lace-trimmed shoulder-length veil which complimented the gown and carried white carnations, baby's breath and a white bridal Bible.

A CLOSE FRIEND, Theresa L. Medley of Romulus, was the bride's only attendant in a sleeveless pink gown with a high neckline and empire waistline. Her corsage of pink carnations was pinned at the shoulder.

Calendar is a full one for elders

Romulus Senior Citizens Club No. 1 has been a busy group since the first of the year when they visited senior housing developments in Wayne and Westland. They recently repeated the venture by touring the Twin Towers and other complexes in Inkster gathering ideas for the future senior housing in Romulus.

Also on the club calendar was the recent invitation from the Romulus Kiwanis for several club members to attend a ladies' night. Mr. and Mrs. P. Renke and Mr. and Mrs. I. Icenogle were interviewed and offered any assistance the Kiwanians might give the senior group.

Last month members enjoyed seeing the Ice Capades in Detroit and on April 17 they will tour the new Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor where they will shop and have dinner. Mrs. R. Butz is in charge of the outing and is taking reservations for the event.

Punch in brunch

Is Easter brunch traditional at your house or unexpected? When the bunch drops in for brunch Easter morning, or any weekend, be prepared with an eye-opener — a mixed grill of pork sausage, bacon curls and ham slices or smoked pork chops. Serve with hot fruit and coffee cake or sweet rolls.

MRS. LARRY HALE

The bridegroom asked his friend, Bob Eves of Romulus, to be best man.

At the reception, which followed in the church hall, the bride's mother received in an emerald green jumper and white blouse while Mrs. Hale, the bridegroom's mother, chose to wear a sleeveless turquoise and white dress. Both were presented with corsages of yellow carnations.

Following a brief honeymoon at Ramada Inn in Romulus, the newlyweds took up residence in New Boston.

Both young people were graduated from Romulus High School in 1973 and the bridegroom is currently employed at Joy Dearborn Corp. in Dearborn.

April 20 wedding planned

Denise Creps of Ypsilanti and Rick F. Armatis of Belleville are engaged and making plans for their April 20 wedding. Both are 1973 graduates of Belleville High School.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Creps of McGregor Street, Ypsilanti.

The prospective bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Armatis of Wilmot Road, Belleville, is employed at Huron Steel Treating Co. of Belleville.

ECOLOGY BONNETS—Lest they be taken as m'lady's Easter chapeaus, the hats worn by Madelyn Blend (left) and Lilian Carlson (right) were strictly for fun. As part of the Huron Valley Garden Club's April 1 meeting, members were asked to design a hat depicting ecology in some form.

Officers elected by Garden Club

The Huron Valley Garden Club held its April 1 meeting at the home of Carol Fitch on Second Street in Belleville. President Onalee Wall conducted the business session and election of officers.

Those to take office for 1974-75 are Shirley Hennells, president; Bonnie Moon, vice-president; Shirley Books, recording secretary; Jean Flavell, corresponding secretary; and Carol Fitch, treasurer.

Program chairman Bonnie Moon presented Frank Whitmyer from the Hydramatic plant who spoke and showed slides on air pollution.

Members then displayed their environmental hats which they were asked to design. Madelyn Blend, first-place winner, chose "Do not pollute rivers and streams" as the theme for her green straw hat. Bending the brim at intervals to represent waves, she filled the cavity of the crown with litter one finds along lake shores and streams such as bottle caps, cigarette butts, pieces of metal, etc.

Lilian Carlson, who was awarded second prize, collected throw-aways and fashioned her "original" from a gallon milk carton, broken hanger, aluminum foil scraps, labels, etc. Her six-year old daughter, Carol, helped construct the headpiece and was delighted when her mother came home with second prize, colored gift soaps.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Charlotte Budd.

'How-to' books may inspire new hobbies

That wonderful world of books, better known as your public library, is chockful of interesting tomes of every variety. And for those who can't stand to waste a moment, books of a how-to nature are just waiting to be checked out.

Many a new hobby has been the result of one of these guides and more than one has led to a bit of profit as well.

For those with an artistic bend, the book on gold leafing might be a new and interesting past-time to pursue and Chambers' guide comes complete with photographs and instructions on the art.

Then there are ways to turn discards — old cornhusks, for instance — into quaint little dolls for gift giving or just pleasure. The methods and materials needed are in a book written by Ruth Wendorff.

And if little 'critters' are your bag, take a look at Paul Villard's writings on raising small animals.

All three books are available at the Belleville Library and Wendorff's book is also on file at the Romulus Library.

Schools to share in funds

Three school districts in Western Wayne County will be among 12 school systems sharing more than $11 million of the April state aid payment, according to State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland). State aid payments are made to Michigan school districts six times during the school year. Faust said that the school districts have received a total of $689,674 since his last report on school funding under Titles I and III of the Elementary Secondary Education Act of 1965 and under the Vocational Education Act of 1963. Under the vocational act, the school districts' allotment was Romulus, $10,370; Huron, $1,534, and Van Buren, $5,210. Title I and III payments to the individual school systems were Romulus, $38,227; Huron, $7,500, and Van Buren $10,000.

Friday service slated

The Emmanuel Baptist Church will hold a 1 p.m. Good Friday service at the church, 960 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville. The Rev. Brian K. Fujii, pastor, will address the congregation on a message entitled, "Transforming Forgiveness." The service will include singing, fellowship and worship, he said.

McCain to face charges

A Romulus man has been indicted by a federal grand jury. He is James McCain, 39, of 6094 Second St. McCain was charged with nine counts of willfully aiding and assisting in the preparation of false and fraudulent income tax returns for others in 1970, 1971 and 1972. According to U.S. Assistant Attorney Loren G. Keenan, the indictment charges that McCain caused false itemized deductions for $6,577 to be listed on nine income tax returns. The maximum penalty for this offense is three years in prison and a $5,000 fine on each count, together with the costs of prosecution, an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) spokesman said.

$75 prize awarded for essay

A Belleville resident has received a third-place prize of $75 in a Michigan Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Institute sponsored essay contest. Jo Lehman received her prize for an essay dealing with why she would like to own a recreational vehicle. According to Miss Lehman, camping has become a means of relaxation away from a pressurized world. The ownership of a travel trailer denotes independence from civilization and an experience in nature. Being furnished with modern conveniences of home living allows people to enjoy the outdoors while building stronger communications within families, she said.

Scouts to hold program

Cub Scout and leaders in Belleville and Van Buren Township will hold a round table and "Scout-A-Rama" kick-off at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Haggerty Road Elementary School, 13770 Haggerty Rd., Belleville. "Scout-A-Rama" tickets will be available at the meeting.

A FAMILY PROJECT — Before installing a new no-wax floor, read instructions carefully. You'll need carpenter's square (left), chalk line, adhesive, trowel, knife or scissors. The key to perfect fit is taking accurate room measurements. Diagram floor plan on chart, noting position of cabinets closets and doorways. After transferring measurements from chart to flooring material, cut along chalk lines using sharp knife and straight edge. (Do transferring of measurements and cutting in some room where material can lie flat. Cardboard under cut lines will protect knife blade.) Return material to room (top) where it is to be installed and put in place. Roll back one half of material, spread adhesive, unroll material onto adhesive while still wet. Repeat same steps with remainder of material to finish job.

People improve their homes

Flooring lends itself to easy installation

One result of the energy crisis has been to create a nation of homebodies out of the world's greatest travelers. Good or bad, it's had some interesting side effects.

People spending more time at home are forced to take stock of their surroundings. This, combined with a slowdown in new home building and tight mortgage money, has led to an upswing in home remodeling and improvement.

And with inflation adding to all the other current woes, more and more people are doing the work themselves — and saving substantially.

ONE OF THE first rooms that comes in for improvement is the kitchen, where the housewife spends so many hours.

Remodeling may be a major project involving all new appliances, or a spruce up, like painting the cabinets, papering the walls and putting down a new floor.

If a new floor is what the housewife is after, and she won't settle for anything less than the no-wax kind, and it has to be the do-it-yourself variety, there's good news.

In many cases, the new floor can be installed by the seamless "loose lay" method. No adhesive is needed. Advice on this can be obtained from the dealer.

In other cases, though, the floor should be cemented down. Fortunately, some new flooring can be installed directly over most existing floors, provided they are clean, smooth and well bonded.

CONCRETE BASEMENT floors pose no problem either; just vacuum or wash thoroughly and allow to dry.

An exception would be where seeping water or excess moisture is present in the basement.

The most crucial step in installing flooring involves taking careful measurements of the floor surface to be covered, showing the exact position of all cabinets, closets and other offsets.

Accuracy is essential; diagram all measurements on a chart.

NOW, UNROLL the flooring material in another room where it can lie flat and transfer the measurements from the chart onto the material using a chalk line. Cut the material to fit with a straight-blade knife, linoleum knife or heavy-duty scissors.

Carry the material into the room where it is to be installed and position it with care. Fold back half of the material, and spread creamy white adhesive over the exposed floor surface. Lay the material on the wet adhesive. Fold back the other half of the material and repeat the process.

With a heavy roller (or ordinary rolling pin, the result will be the same) smooth out the new floor to remove any air pockets and secure a tight bond.

Chances are, unless you're one of those people who loves to work around the house, you won't have had as much fun as an afternoon of tennis. But it's a good feeling to have that sparkling no-wax floor brightening up the kitchen (or bath, family room or basement).

Best of all, you did it yourself. You actually beat inflation — no mean adversary given the state of the economy today.

THE PROJECT IS COMPLETE — This new do-it-yourself floor has a sparkling, easy-to-clean surface. To keep floor its shiniest, sweep regularly and sponge mop with detergent.

And it's a soft drink for this couple after a flooring job well done.

Carpet care important

Carpets are an extraordinarily good value, because, needing no wax, they cost less to maintain than floors.

In view of this, they deserve the red carpet treatment when it comes to care.

Maintaining them properly helps them to retain their thermal, acoustical and psychological benefits.

Here are some hints about carpet care.

1. Soak up as much of the staining material as possible with a towel.
2. Never rub a spot. This will only spread the stain and distort the pile.

3. Before using any cleaning agent, try a small amount on an inconspicuous corner of the carpet.
4. Always start from the edge of a spot and work toward the center.

5. Apply a small amount of cleaning agent to the spot and remove the dissolved stain with a clean white towel.
6. Repeat the above procedures until the stain has disappeared and place clean towels or absorbent tissue with weights on the spot until it is dry.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

Ask any group of people, excepting clergymen or Bible students, how often - if at all - the word 'Easter' appears in the Bible, and you will hear surprising answers. Replies will range from - "I'm not sure" - "I don't know" - "I think several times in the New Testament" - etc. Actually, - and this may surprise you, the word 'Easter' is mentioned only once, but NOT in connection with Christianity's Easter or the resurrection.

How then did the word originate? This question too has a somewhat surprising answer. People in past ages worshipped many gods or goddesses; a god for this and god for that. Among these gods was one named Eostre; worshipped as the Goddess of Spring. Because Christ's resurrection occurred during the Jewish Passover (a Spring Festival), early churchmen chose the word Easter to commemorate His resurrection.

Easter customs, coloring eggs, feasting to celebrate the coming of spring, putting on a new bonnet and dressing in pretty clothes; all these and other customs date back to the B.C. era. One of the nicest customs is this - and we're glad to participate in it when we say - "Happy Easter to you!"

Our costs are rising faster than ever.

When our costs go up, we need to charge higher prices.

But at Detroit Edison we must prove our need for higher prices at public hearings.

By the time we get approval, our costs have gone up even more. So, from time to time, we have to ask for a rate increase in order to offset these increasing costs.

For villages

Mahalak introduces annexation legislation

Legislation to place proposed annexation of territories by villages under the jurisdiction of the state boundary commission has been introduced to the Michigan House of Representatives by Edward E. Mahalak.

The 38th District Democrat said the proposed annexation by cities already has been heard by the boundary commission. But villages still must go through the county board of commissioners.

"It seems only right that villages also should have the benefit of an outside impartial panel to consider their annexation petitions," he added.

The problem was brought to his attention, by officials of the villages. They objected because they did not have the right to take their annexation proposal before the state boundary commission, Mahalak said.

"This change in the law would directly benefit village in Michigan which wish to annex adjacent land in a township," he added. "They would be assured of a fairer hearing before the boundary commission. The commission can act impartially because it has no vested interest in the annexation."

The state boundary commission was created by the Legislature in 1968.

"Establishment of the commission solved many problems for cities," Mahalak said. "It also should be used to solve the same annexation problems for villages."

"The commission takes all facts into consideration and either approves or denies annexation proposals."

"It is required to hold a public hearing. It bases its decision upon information obtained at the hearing and such other criteria as population density, land area and uses, the need for serves, assessed valuation, natural boundaries and drainage basins, past and future urban growth and a number of other considerations.

Sportsman may carry a handgun

Sportsmen can again carry handguns to and from hunting or target shooting without fear of violating Michigan laws following the signing of a bill by Gov. Milliken.

However, there are some new stipulations in the law they should be aware of.

Provisions in the new law require that persons transporting a handgun have in their possession either a concealed weapons permit, a valid Michigan hunting license or a valid membership in an organization having pistol shooting range facilities.

If any of these three stipulations are met, a handgun may be transported legally in a vehicle if unloaded, wrapped or in a container and in the trunk. In the case of vehicles without trunks, the pistol may be transported in the passenger compartment if unloaded, wrapped or in a container and not accessible to the occupants.

It's Fantasy Hill

Romulus resident plays with new 'super' band

By LUCY WIESEND
Enterprise Roman News Editor

Labeled as Detroit's newest "super group" by disc jockeys because of its single, "Unemployment Blues," Fantasy Hill actually is a Romulus and downriver band on its way to national recognition.

One group member, Doug Golema is a Bruce Street resident in Romulus. Other members are Joe Conrad of Lincoln Park, Danny Mullins of Wyandotte, Gerison Migliacio of Southgate and George Durbin of Lincoln Park.

The Eastbound recording artists will be performing in concert tonight and tomorrow night at the Electric Circus in Roseville. Another concert at the Yack Arena in Wyandotte also is planned.

THE GROUP'S concerts include a combination of original material such as "Frisbie," "Hills of Kentucky," "Good, Good Rock 'n Roll" and of course, "Unemployment Blues," and other rock hits such as "Judy Blue Eyes," "Let It Ride" and "Satisfy Me Woman."

Fantasy Hill considers itself more than just a rock band, though, as it combines its members' folk, Latin American, rock and rhythm and blues backgrounds.

Migliacio and Conrad give the group its Latin American flavor; Mullins adds his folk interest; Durbin favors rhythm, and blues and Golema's interests includes anything from rock to classical.

Twenty-four-year-old Golema is Fantasy Hill's drummer. Playing the drums since the age of 11, he still takes lessons to perfect his skill.

THE ROMULUS resident also has been playing the guitar for the past two years and is interested in song writing.

He has played with bands for many years, and has performed with members of Frigid Pink, The Detroit Wheels and Lightening.

As his reason for recently branching out into writing, Golema said: "The doors to writing are just beginning to open inside of me. There are things I want to say."

All the other members of Fantasy Hill also are interested in writing. And the group has a wealth of original material as the creative juices of five individuals flow.

ASIDE FROM his interest in writing, Migliacio sings, plays the guitar and the congas. They add some of the Latin American sound to the group.

The 22-year-old, originally from Brazil, has been involved in the music business for the past five years. His interest in music stems from talent in his family.

His father, who has encouraged him to develop his talents, was a member of an orchestra in Brazil. It included his 11 brothers. In fact, several of Migliacio's relatives are popular stars in his homeland.

Interested in music for the past six years, 20-year-old Conrad has played with a 60-piece orchestra while in his homeland, Brazil.

WITH FANTASY Hill, he writes, sings lead to many numbers and plays the bass guitar.

Adding the folk background to the group is Mullins. The 21-year-old rhythm guitarist sometimes relieves Conrad as lead singer and adds to the four-part harmony on other numbers.

His love of music also stems from musical interest in his family. His father gave him his first guitar when he was 10 years old. Since that time Mullins has been involved in music as a single entertainer or with groups.

He's performed in many concerts in his hometown and also played at coffee houses in and around Detroit. He also performed at Cobo Hall for a Danny Thomas benefit.

IT WAS THROUGH coffee-house performances by the trio — Mullins, Conrad and Migliacio — that the seeds of Fantasy Hill were planted. And through the efforts of Verity Production Company of Taylor, to it came Golema and the lead guitar of Durbin.

The 24-year-old Lincoln Parker has been professionally involved with music for 10 years. Durbin's interest in entertainment also evolved with his parent's encouragement.

Aside from its recent concert dates, Fantasy Hill is keeping busy with recording sessions and soon will release another single and an album.

Two residents work on play

The next Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre production will include the talents of two Belleville residents.

The play, "Butterflies are Free," will be staged at 8:30 p.m. May 3 and 4 at John Glenn High School in Westland.

Juan Pablo Verde of Belleville plays Ralph, a man who adds to the struggle of a blind man.

THE PLAY is being directed by Carolyn Kaump of Belleville.

It tells the story of a young blind man, asserting his independence. Jill, an attractive, bubbly neighbor helps give him confidence, a group spokesman said.

Also included in the play are Mrs. Baker, an overly protective mother who tries to limit the man's independence.

The cast will consist of Patrick Nalley of Plymouth as Don; Cherie Klopshinske of Westland as Jill, and Marlene Vassoff of Westland as Mrs. Baker.

TICKETS for the production are $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for senior citizens and students.

Students attend EMU production

Students of the South Junior High School's play production class and 80 other students recently attended a performance of the Eastern Michigan University Players' production of "In the Zone."

According to Frank Soloc, teacher and director of the play production class, the six university performers' main goal was to prove to the audience that all the movements possible in a real fight are possible in a theatrical fight.

The players staged a short fight which involved a variety of weapons from ropes and mops to fists and kicks.

After the performance, the players used a volunteer from the audience to demonstrate some of the stage fighting techniques.

Desires to shed independent status

Romulus seeks league membership

By DALE GOWING
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff

Romulus High School officials are awaiting word from a newly-formed interscholastic-athletic conference as to whether the school has been accepted for membership.

Romulus Athletic Director Ed Baum said the school, currently an independent (not affiliated with a league), applied for membership in the league "late last fall" and had expected a reply by April 1.

Livonia Clarenceville High Principal Ray Renbarger, acting chairman of the league which so far has four members—Clarenceville, Dearborn Heights, Ann Arbor, Oak Park and Woodhaven—said Monday the league board of directors met in mid-March and ruled on Romulus' application, but denied comment on the board's decision.

"I'M GOING to have to get a letter out to Ed (Baum) on that," said Renbarger. "I remember I promised him a reply by April 1 but haven't had a chance to get back to him."

Renbarger would not indicate if Romulus had been accepted. "I'd rather talk to Ed about it first before everyone else is made aware of the decision," he said. He added that he hadn't replied to Baum because "we had a number of things happen."

Romulus has been an independent since 1970-71, when the Twin Valley League disbanded. Such non-league schools usually have difficulties in scheduling athletic competition, however, and it is known that Romulus officials are eager to end the scheduling problems.

Baum, however, indicated the school does not want to join just any league merely to rid itself of the independent status.

"WE WOULD be eager (to

Enterprise Roman Sports

-A PANAX PUBLICATION-

Wednesday, April 10, 1974 Page B-1

join a league) if we could get in the proper one," he said. "Until we can do that we'll stay independent." Baum also denied any knowledge of a report that Romulus was seeking entrance to a conference which includes several western Michigan schools.

Baum said he received one letter from the Clarenceville-based league since submitting his application, saying the league would consider his application.

Of the four current members, three are Class A schools and one is Class B (Clarenceville). Romulus is Class A and has 1136 students. The Michigan High School Athletic Association requires a Class A school to have at least 1410 students, but since Romulus High only has 10th through 12th grades it is allowed to be Class A by assuming the numerical difference in class size.

Renbarger said the new league, yet to be named, is "off the ground" and the members "are approaching it with enthusiasm."

"THE LEAGUE will not begin athletic competition until September of 1975 due to members' current contractual commitments to other leagues. Clarenceville is a member of the Wayne-Oakland League and Oak Park belongs to the Northwest Suburban Conference. Ann Arbor and Woodhaven are independents with the latter being only a year old.

Renbarger said the league board of directors consists of the principals of the four member schools, who drafted a constitution in March. The league by-laws allow a maximum of eight schools to join, he said.

The member schools are not known as athletic powers by any means, and Oak Park appears to have the competitive edge. The Redskins are strong in basketball, weak in football and above average in wrestling, swimming and track sports, but the other four are considered weak in most sports. Ann Arbor is fairly good in wrestling.

Admittance of Romulus into the league would make the Eagles instant overwhelming favorite in basketball and wrestling but they would be on a par with the others in football and below average in the running sports.

Eager Eagles

Romulus High's baseball success this season will depend on strong defense and pitching, the former depending in part on the ability of catcher Chuck McBride (left) to pick off attempted base-stealers, and the latter riding on the arms of ace hurlers Rick Britz (15, right) and Kurt Lenderman. The Eagles lost their only game so far to Cherry Hill and have been driven indoors to practice by the weather. They travel to Garden City East Thursday. — Enterprise-Roman

Graduation takes toll

Prep baseball squads face rebuilding task

By DALE GOWING
Enterprise-Roman Sports Writer

Of the three Enterprise-Roman area high school baseball teams, one thing stands out as a common denominator—inexperience.

Romulus, Belleville and New Boston Huron were each drained of several starters through graduation after last season and two of them find themselves faced with the task of rebuilding entire infields and pitching staffs.

Belleville came through last year's graduation the least crippled, but Coach Vit Kaminskas still has to replace four regulars. Huron has just two regulars back on the 20-man roster while Romulus has three lettermen on its 17-man squad.

ROMULUS COACH Bill Cuhran is dubious about the Eagles' new campaign, which began last Thursday with a 7-5 loss to Cherry Hill and resumed last night at River Rouge.

"We lost the nucleus of our team," he said, "but I think we will be all right. We're strong on the mound and defense. Our goal will be to rely on pitching and defense and secure one run at a time."

"We have fair speed but we won't overpower anybody with our hitting," he said.

Cuhran's 1973 club lost several one-run games enroute to a 7-13 season, and the coach is out to change that this year.

HIS PITCHING aces are Kurt Lenderman and Rick Britz, both juniors, and from there on down the remainder of the mound corps is uncertain. Romulus' three lettermen are rightfielder and co-captain Roy Hollis, shortstop Mike Nielson and Lenderman.

The Eagles, who do not belong to a league, have already had one of their 23 scheduled games postponed by cold weather, at Ann Arbor Pioneer April 2. Their home opener is slated for next Tuesday with Garden City East at 4 p.m. and other home tests will be versus Willow

Run April 24, Robichaud April 29, Belleville May 1 and Ypsilanti, Rouge, Highland Park, Ecorse, Wayne Memorial, Woodhaven, Inkster and (Continued on Page B-2)

Eagle runners staying away

The fair weather runners of Romulus High remain in hiding, and the result is an embarrassing situation for Eagle track coach Jesse Merriweather.

"Nobody here wants to run in cold weather," complained Merriweather after Romulus was represented by a mere seven athletes at the season-opening meet at Ypsilanti, which the Eagles lost, 103-13.

"They all stay away until the good weather comes, and in the meanwhile we lose," he continued. "I can't make the kids come out for the team of course, but I see guys in the hall who are good runners and ask when they're coming out, and they say 'yeah? I'm going to pretty soon.'"

"I HAVE nine basketball players who are good runners but they have jobs after school and can't run for us," Merriweather also is the Eagles' varsity basketball coach. "There's no dedicated runners at this school — all they want to do around here is play basketball."

Romulus has perennially had the trouble of rounding up enough bodies to field track and cross country teams, and the current cool weather certainly has not helped in Merriweather's opinion.

When pre-season practice opened there were 23 trackmen on the Romulus roster, but that number dwindled to 13 — with only seven of them actually competing. Six are girls who have worked out with the team but did not run at the Ypsilanti meet.

Merriweather insisted that cool weather conditions have kept the larger numbers away.

AGAINST Ypsilanti, Romulus was not represented in the mile, two-mile, pole vault and hurdles — and Merriweather knows a track program cannot go anywhere with a response like that.

"I don't see anything hopeful in track happening here," he said. "Nobody wants to run."

Romulus struggled to a 2-8 won-lost record last season and the performance against Ypsilanti gave indication of even worse things yet to come. A couple of bright spots, however, were Emery Long's winning of the broad jump (19'7") and second place finish in the 440 (53.4) and Darwin Harris' second place in the high jump.

Pioneer to round out the campaign.
BELLEVILLE'S scheduled season opener Monday at Allen Park was scratched by the weather, but Coach Kaminkas and the Tigers will find themselves in two straight encounters beginning today at Wayne Memorial and continuing Thursday at home with Redford Union. Both games are at 4 p.m.
The Tigers feature five returning regulars from 1973 and a potentially tough pitching staff, despite the loss of aces Al Cicotte and Jerry Cole.

Back in their regular spots in the field are third baseman Robin Hook, outfielders Gary Adkins and Joe Stillwagon, and Dave Dapsi made the switch from outfield to catch upon the graduation of all-league receiver Mike Damsard. The other starter is Lee Stiltner, who Kaminkas labels as one of his mound aces.

The Tigers have another hurler to complement Stiltner, transfer Kevin Bara. A senior, Bara played at Belleville as a sophomore then transferred to Ypsilanti High for his junior season. His return to Belleville gives Kaminkas a second strong arm.

ANOTHER PROMISING letterman, who saw limited action last season, is pitcher Gerald Memering. Memering will likely be the third starter in the rotation, with junior Dan Matson also getting a shot.

"I think we could be all right in the hitting department," analyzed Kaminkas, "and if our pitching comes we could be up there in the title race."

Dearborn, Edsel Ford and Redford Union are designated as favorites in the Suburban Eight League.

Belleville will entertain Romulus next Wednesday at 4 p.m. and the April calendar is rounded out with games against Livonia Bentley, Wayne, Dearborn and Trenton.

COACH RON SMITH'S Huron High crew takes its first taste of 1974 competition today at Ypsilanti Lincoln, when the truth will come out about the Chiefs' chances this season. Smith had to replace his entire infield positions plus an outfielder and a smattering of pitchers this time around, and foresees the campaign as a "rebuilding" one.

"We've got a lot of good young talent coming up," he said, "but how much it can help us this year I don't know."

Of the Chiefs' 20-man roster, only two owned starting jobs last year when Huron finished fourth in the Huron League with a 10-6 record and recorded an overall 13-12 season. They are senior all-league pitcher Ken DeLano, who Smith is pinning his hopes on, and centerfielder Tim Hinojosa, who is also trying his hand at pitching and third base.

TWO OTHER lettermen are outfielder Bill Parent and Ron Suemnick, who is battling for the first base job with Ken Kwasnik.

Huron lost all-league catcher Dana Kemp via graduation and is laying its cards on sophomore Jeff Gill, a 6-foot-1, 175-lb. letterwinner. DeLano anchors the Huron pitching staff, "and from there on down it's uncertain," admitted Smith. DeLano earned a 4-1 mark in the league last year. The number two hurler is likely to be Wynn Krzyzke, a junior righthander, who led the Chief reserves last season.

With state Class C champion Blissfield out of the league this season, the title race is wide open to Flat Rock, Carlton Airport and Monroe Catholic Central, Smith believes. All three suffered little by graduation.

DEFENSE NEVER RESTS — Romulus baseball coach Bill Cuhran (right) jokes with outfielders Roy Hollis (left) and Frank Gnas during a break in practice. Hollis is one of three Eagle returning lettermen and will be relied on for his defensive efforts. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

Hosts Northwood

EMU '9' sets opener

YPSILANTI — Ron Oestrike's Eastern Michigan baseball team will put their 12-5 won-lost record on the line Friday afternoon in their home opener at the EMU Stadium. The Hurons will meet Northwood Institute in a twin bill beginning at 1 p.m.

Saturday, at the same hour, the Hurons will host Ferris State.

The Hurons won 11 of 15 games during an 11-day tour of southern diamonds this spring and last Saturday split a doubleheader with Michigan on the latter's field.

Jay Traver, sophomore left hander from Taylor, hurled a four-hit shutout to give the Hurons a 2-0 victory in the nightcap. The win raised Traver's 1974 won-lost mark to 3-1.

Bob Owchinko and Ken Bruchanski limited the Wolverines to only one hit in the opener but the Hurons dropped a 1-0 decision.

Windle LaFever was the EMU hitting star with three hits in the second game.

The Midland senior scored one run and drove in the other. LaFever and Bill Reichel lead the team in hitting with .375 averages.

Hurons set to unveil 1974 football edition

YPSILANTI — The formal unveiling of the 1974 Eastern Michigan University football team will come Saturday morning when new head coach George Mans directs the Hurons in the annual Green-White game.

The game, which will bring to a close four weeks of spring football practice, will be played at 11 a.m. in the University of Michigan Stadium. The contest will be open to the public and no admission will be charged.

Mans said that later this week his staff will divide the senior members of the team into two groups. These groups will then conduct a draft of the remaining squad members to provide the makeup of the Green and White teams.

Blind bowlers to issue challenge

Sixteen members of the Metro Blind Bowlers of Detroit will be in Belleville Sunday, April 21, to challenge anyone to bowling duels.

Sponsored by the Belleville Lions Club, the blind bowlers' visit will kick-off the Lions' annual White Cane Sale.

The action will be at the Lodge Lanes, on the I-94 service drive west of Belleville Rd. at 7 p.m. There will be no charge. Any sighted bowler is welcome to challenge the blind bowlers, who have established a reputation as being some of the best bowlers in the state.

Officials expect bond sale for Huron to begin in July Huron Township officials anticipate that the sale of bonds to finance the township's proposed sanitary sewer expansion program will begin in July with sewer construction slated for late August.

The township board of trustees recently signed the building contract with the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) with the next step involving the sale of $1.6 million in bonds.

The sewer expansion program, an addition to existing lines, is a service to existing homes and not aimed at servicing proposed home construction sites within the township, said Huron Township Clerk Mary Lou Carey.

Mrs. Carey added that the sewer expansion would involve the Willow Heights Subdivision and segments of Hannan and Willow roads.

The trustees also passed a resolution requesting the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to approve a bar owner's appeal for a dancing only permit.

The commission had denied a transfer of a dance and entertainment license from Rossi's Bar to Cruzen's Bar. The establishments, located in the same building at 19300 Walsh Rd., changed ownership several months ago.

The dancing only permit allows dancing by customers to a band or juke box. The dance and entertainment permit allows dancing by paid entertainers. It was not transferred by the board of trustees when the bar changed owners.

Church contacts seniors

The First United Methodist Church in Belleville is cooperating with the Red Cross and Social Security Administration by helping to contact people who are more than 65 years of age, blind or disabled. These individuals may qualify for supplemental income.

The aim of Social Security Alert is to see that every eligible single individual or married couple in the Belleville area has a basic cash income, a church spokesman said.

connection with the township's 30-inch sanitary sewer extension has been approved by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

Under the terms of the agreement, Norfolk and Western will permit the township to run part of the sewer line under railroad land for an initial fee of $100 and an annual cost of $480.

The opening of construction bid proposals for the more than $260,000 sewer project was scheduled to be held at last night's session of the township board, Van Buren

Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said, once the township has a firm cost figure for the project, Belleville officials will be able to determine how much the city will pay to use the sewer that will lead to the downriver sewer interceptor located in the city.

The sewer project has been held up by the city because of a disagreement with the sewer route and design.

The city has not set a rate of payment for its use of the sewer.

Group supports health

The National Congress of Parent and Teacher Associations (PTA) is urging its multi-million membership to actively support comprehensive school health education legislation recently introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives and the Senate.

The groups initial aim is to impress on Congress the urgency of immediate hearings on this legislation, according to Robert Palmer of the organization.

"The proposal of the Comprehensive School Health Education Act is a beginning in the effort to raise the quality of health education in our schools," said Grace Baisinger, the National PTA's coordinator of legislative activity.

"Comprehensive kindergarten through 12th grade health education programs are virtually nonexistent in our nation's schools at this time," she added.

Move in now with Woodbury Green's

Mini-Down PLAN

What you do first.

Let's assume you can qualify and are approved for a mortgage on the condominium you want at Woodbury Green... and you can come up with a couple of hundred dollars. You can then move in right away and start making regular monthly payments of $232.50 a month.*

What we do next.

We will credit each of your monthly payments* until there's enough for a down payment — as little as 5% of your purchase price at the lowest conventional mortgage rates available. Then, you take title to your condominium home, simply and easily as that. All the while you've been living in your Woodbury Green townhouse, enjoying the pool and the clubhouse and Belleville Lake and nearby Lower Huron Metro Park.

What you do now.

Come see the condominium townhouses at Woodbury Green. Check the features: 2 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, Whirlpool kitchen, central air-conditioning and more, and compare the value. Then ask our sales representative to do the figuring — and find out how easily you can move in at Woodbury Green.
